Just outside a city of eight million people, this constructed environment has been a haven of harmony and inspiration for more than 1,000 years.